Many Didsbury Entries at Calgary Spring Show

Breeders of purebred cattle in the Didsbury district have 46 entries in the annual show and bull sale which will be held at Calgary on April 4, 5 and 6.

The following have made entries in the Hereford classes:

A. Robertson & Sons 10 entries; A. M. Robertson 4; Hughes Bros 4; Henry Kinick 4; C. E. Kinick 3; W. Moore, (of Cardiff) 3; Mrs. Julia Moore 3; Walter C. Bellamy 2; Mrs. J. L. Bohannon 2; Mrs. P. W. Bohannon 3; E. J. Reid (Cremona) 1.

E. O. Walt & Son have 5 entries in the Shorthorn class.

Say Wet Spring Probable Alberta

The recurring snowstorms of the past week, which melted so quickly as to leave the soil saturated and frost is set to a depth of 6 inches, so all the moisture is sinking in.

The fact that the wind coming east on March 20th and remained in that direction during the equinox is regarded by some as an indication of prevailing wind and weather for the next three months. The weatherwise are looking forward to a wet spring.

Sacred Program by Bible School Chorus

The Bible School Chorus of 42 voices gave a high-class sacred program in the M. B. C. Church on Friday evening, March 23rd. Under the efficient direction of Professor W. Link, Red Deer, the Chorus produced a good program of sacred songs with excellent results. Mrs. Link assisted in the solo work.

It was estimated that about 500 people were present to hear and take part in the evening's activities. Some latecomers were obliged to go away as there was not space in the church to accommodate them, every available space being filled.

Ghost Pine Farmers Form Group to Buy Local 'Phone Line

Farmers of the Ghost Pine district propose to buy some 55 miles of telephone line from the Alberta government.

A well-attended meeting was held recently, when the question was discussed, and the meeting decided to form a farmers' company and buy the phone line at the government's price.

There are approximately 2,156 poles, and 27,965 pounds of wire in this district. The government will sell this to the proposed company for $996.45, one-quarter cash and the balance in two annual payments, without interest.

Stock in the farmers' company will sell at $25.00 per share. Each share will entitle the holder to connection with the company's lines. Subscribers will purchase their own phone instrument at a cost of about $7.50 each, and a rate of $1 a month is charged each subscriber. This rate will cover the cost of connection with the Three Hills government telephone exchange.

The new company expects to have three circuits in operation with approximately 15 subscribers to each.

Take Advantage of Coast Excursion

The following residents of the town and district are taking advantage of the excursion rate to the coast offered by the C.P.R.:

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hyde to Vancouver.

Mrs. Charles Brown to Vancouver. Mr. McKenzie-Grieve, of the Royal Bank, to Vancouver for a 3 weeks' vacation at his home.

Messrs. Tommy Johnson and Clint. Barber to Vancouver and other points on a short vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Weber to Vancouver and other points.

Mrs. Alice McNaughton to Vancouver.

Mrs. C. H. Ashhead left Monday for Vancouver, where she will visit relatives and friends.

Another to take advantage of the excursion to the coast city is Mr. J. F. Skyles, who leaves Saturday.

Mrs. C. R. Ford visited at Carstairs last week.

Tells of Klondyke Rush.

The lecture on "The Klondyke Rush" given on Tuesday evening by Mr. W. H. Fisher, of the O.S.A., under the auspices of the Albright Brotherhood, was listened to with interest by a large audience.

Mr. Fisher, who took part in the big rush of '98, gave a very graphic description of the hardships and incidents on the trail, and had a fund of stories to tell of prospecting and trapping in the Yukon.

The Didsbury Boys' Band under the direction of Dr. Liesemer, gave a number of selections.

Rev. H. J. Wood proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. Fisher and the Boys' Band for the evening's splendid entertainment.

Wants Information Regarding Meteor

The Department of Astronomy, University of Toronto, is interesting itself with regard to the great meteor that was seen here on the evening of Sunday, March 18th, and is asking eye witnesses to send in a report to the University.

Prof. Chant, head of the department, has sent a form of questions to the Pioneer, which can be used by anyone wishing to make a report. He says that such a report will help the cause of science in Canada.

Magistrate Scott to be Heard Here on "Crisis in Europe."

An address on "The Crisis in Europe" will be given in the Knox United Church on Tuesday evening, April 10th by Magistrate H. G. Scott, Calgary.

The subject is particularly interesting and in securing such an address from a so able and popular speaker we should be considered as fortunate.

Mennonites Hold Annual Conference and Convention

The annual conference of the M.B.C. Church was preceded by a ministerial convention on Tuesday, March 20th.

The forenoon meeting was devoted to discussions of revivals and the preaching of holiness in the church. Mrs. M. A. Finlay, of Edmonton, and Rev. F. Vincett, of Alaska, ably introduced the subject in the way of essays.

The afternoon meeting was given to the thought of pastors' preparedness for effective service, and to an essay to the laity with regard to their privileges and responsibilities in the church. Rev. H. Edvardson, of Edmonton, discussed the "Essentials of an Effective Ministry," and Miss O. Pearl Reist read an essay on the latter subject. Following this a number of timely topics were discussed in a round-table conference.

The evening session was taken up with an evangelistic address on the "Signs of the Times," by the Rev. C. J. Hallman.

Wednesday morning the regular conference was called, the Presiding Elder of the conference, Rev. C. J. Hallman, presiding. It is estimated that about 40 pastors, assistants and missionaries were present, also delegates from nearly every field. The 1934 session closed on Saturday at 5:15 p.m.

The days were crowded with important business pertaining to the solution of problems on the field, opening new appointments and much deliberation concerning the foreign missions and evangelism.

Rev. C. J. Hallman was re-elected Presiding Elder, and Rev. H. Edvardson, of Edmonton, was made Vice Presiding Elder. Rev. A. Traub was re-elected President of the Mountain View Bible School. Due to the leave of absence granted Rev. V. K. Snyder, pastor at Didsbury, Rev. F. Vincett, of Alaska, was elected to succeed him this year. Rev. Snyder is arranging to pursue further his theological studies this fall, and hence was granted leave of absence to do so. The congregation at Didsbury will miss him, nevertheless they wish him Godspeed in his desired course.

Special features were in the persons of Miss F. Matheson, missionary to India, and Miss Doner, home missionary in Ontario.

WEDDINGS

WINTERBOTTOM-SCHMIDT

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the Carstairs United Church on Thursday, March 22nd, when Miss Florence Schmidt, daughter of Mrs. M. Shaw, was united in marriage with Mr. Jack Winterbottom, Rev. Rogers officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Fowler attended the bride and groom.

On Tuesday evening of this week a shower in their honor was held in Mountain View Community Hall, which was largely attended by their many friends from both country and town.

Dancing was enjoyed to the music of Halliday's Orchestra, Didsbury. A vocal and instrumental number by the Edwards Boys received tremendous applause. The humorous rendering of "Little Brown Jug" by Mr. Harold Welch, was also well received. Mr. M. Wood acted as chairman for the evening.

The happy and popular couple were the delighted recipients of many varied and useful gifts. The well-wishes of the district go to the happy pair.

Mr. and Mrs. Winterbottom will reside on the old Paisley farm northeast of Didsbury.

JACKSON—WHITE

At the North Hill United Church, Moose, Calgary, on March 22nd, a quiet wedding was solemnized when Miss Evelyn M. J. White became the bride of Mr. Ralph Jackson, of Edmonton. Rev. J. Rex Brown officiating.

The couple were supported by Miss Mary White and Mr. Stanley Jackson.

Further his theological studies this fall, and hence was granted leave of absence to do so. The congregation at Didsbury will miss him, nevertheless they wish him Godspeed in his desired course.

The School Of Experience

People learn their most important and valuable lessons in the school of experience. It is a school that opens at birth and closes with death, and there are no vacation periods. We are passing through some experience at all times and we are imbibing knowledge, learning something as a result. It may be that the lessons learned in school and from books, we may forget some of the lessons of experience, for a time at any rate; even more frequently we may ignore and neglect the lessons which experience has taught us; nevertheless they have left their imprint upon our minds and have influenced our lives for good or for evil.

It not infrequently happens that a short, sharp lesson is learned never to be forgotten from some one brief experience. Something enters our lives, it may be a great sorrow or a great joy, which then there after the whole course of our lives. On the other hand, it is often the case that in order that a lesson may be effectively learned, the experience which is teaching it may be greatly prolonged in order that it may be impressed upon us in the way that is necessary. And while individuals may learn a lesson from some experience very quickly, it is usually a much slower process for communities and nations to so learn and profit by experience.

Consider the present economic upheaval throughout the world, now continuing into its fifth or sixth year. Some people, no doubt, learned valuable lessons from it during the first twelve months of its duration; others have learned as the months and years have gone by. Communities and nations have learned some lessons, and some have, of course, learned more and faster than others. All are still learning; learning perhaps a little more thoroughly now than they were two and three years ago. But it is quite evident that the nations have not yet grasped, or at any rate accepted, the great truths which the Great Depression has been teaching any more than they grasped, or accepted, the great truths which the Great War should have impressed upon all mankind.

Possibly it is because man has not yet learned the lessons, or at least accepted the teachings of the existing depressed economic state, that the depression is so greatly prolonged and still continues. There are certain lessons which the nations of mankind must learn, and not only learn but put their learning and knowledge into practical effect, before the depression will be overcome. The longer the depression continues the more rapidly it is teaching these lessons. They are lessons being learned through a bitter experience, but it is the stupidity and unwillingness of man to learn obvious lessons that is prolonging that bitter experience.

The four years of death, horror, suffering and destruction of the Great War, together with its aftermath of trouble and losses, of which the present chaotic economic and financial situation is a part, have not taught the nations the utter futility of war. Surely they appreciate the teachings of the Great War and its outcome, but they absolutely will not take the lesson to themselves, with the result that the world is trembling today on the very brink of another terrible war.

But while the nations may thus be much slower than individuals to learn lessons they should learn and profit by, people in all countries are learning and in time their thoughts and their actions will direct the nations. It is, of course, much more difficult to bring a whole group or nation to accept a great truth as the result of experience than it is to get a few individuals to accept it. Individuals are now in ever increasing numbers learning valuable lessons as a result of the experiences through which they are passing, lessons which will not be easily forgotten but which will have their impress on several generations to come. It will take time to translate their views into community and national life and action. That evolutionary process, nevertheless, is under way.

It is inevitable, too, that out of the experiences of a transition period such as the present, many ideas and theories will be advanced in all sincerity and seriousness as the solution of existing ills. It has always been so in all transition periods in the world's history, and it will probably continue to be so at all times of marked change. The mental processes of people are quickened by the experiences through which they are passing, but in numerous cases this merely results in the adoption of radical or extreme ideas, and these, advanced as cure-alls for existing ills, are generally speaking, mutually destructive to one of the other.

Clear thinking, therefore, is one of the most essential requirements in times like the present. Our experiences should teach us not to act hastily. They should recall to us that we made great mistakes in the mounting days of prosperity, that they should put us on guard against committing other and equally great mistakes under the influence of a great depression. If we never cease to reach definite and far-reaching decisions beyond recall when we are either on the mountain peaks or at the bottom of the deep valleys.

In a word, in the school of experience we should learn that it is most important, vitally so, that we order and control our thinking powers, and apply them to the practical problems at hand in full realization of the fact that while there is no short cut to betterment and perfection, betterment can be obtained by practical, united effort, while what now may be regarded as ideal will, if and when realized, prove to be but a stepping stone to a still nobler ideal.

A man thinks he is practicing economy when he denies himself anything he can't raise the money to buy.

The Strong Man in a circus gets paid for carrying five or six people, while merchants "carry" hundreds, and are often never paid.

Millions Made By Forgery

But Science Has Done Much To Aid In Detection

Between the scientist and the forger a relentless battle of wits is being waged. And although the reformed crook likes telling the public that dishonesty does not pay, the forger is always one move ahead of the scientist. The Statistical Bureau of the League of Nations estimates that this lead costs society approximately twenty million dollars a year. That is the sum which forgers manage successfully to amass at the expense of the public and the State.

It is only of late years that science has been called upon to co-operate with the police in the detection of forgeries. This is especially true in England, for even before England had nothing to compare to the elaborately equipped laboratories which the French police have at their disposal in every important town.

Until quite recently it was still possible to get away with the easiest and cheapest form of forgery, which consists in rubbing or scraping out a figure or a name, polishing the roughened surface, and writing in a bluish figure or a different name. To day chemists have discovered that by exposing the paper to iodine vapor, the concealed iodine permeates the damaged surface and forms a blot.

This simple but infallible test requires no special apparatus, and can easily be applied by anyone. In many foreign banks handling large numbers of "travellers' cheques," which are the forgers' happy hunting ground, cashiers are supplied with special iodine capsules which require only the heat of a match to give off sufficient vapour to test any cheque which they may have reason to suspect.

The activity of the forger is not confined to the "dud" cheque or banknote. The manufacture of spurious works of art and paintings was until recently, probably the most lucrative branch of crooked skillfulness. But it is in this field that science can be said at last to have won the upper hand. It art experts were to make full use of all the resources science has put at their disposal since the discovery of the X-ray, there need never be another faked painting on the market.

Vanishing Fortunes

American Millionaires Reduced To Five Thousand Since 1929

Large American fortunes are disintegrating, remarks Mr. Samuel Cowher in the Cosmopolitan Magazine. The five thousand millionaires who today survive the thirty thousand of 1929 still have a good chance to lose their fortunes before they die, says the writer, who observes that only one sizeable fortune, the Astor estate, is more than a hundred years old; the three really large ones, the Ford, Rockefeller and Mellon estates, being still in the first generation. To find any fortune going back more than three hundred years, he says, one must turn to the Orient. Few of the Indian potentates know how old their fortunes are; some go back more than a thousand years. They keep their wealth in gold, silver and precious jewels. Toronto Globe.

Favors MHI Inflation

Adoption of a modified system of credit similar to that used in the United States, mild inflation, raising of commodity prices, state control of business from a modifying and regulating point of view, and clear thinking as a means of returning Canada to an economic state of prosperity were advocated by Premier Hargrave in addressing a banquet of the Alberta provincial board of the Retail Merchants' Association.

Construction Program

Proposed Building Undertakings Will Stimulate Industry

Canada's recovery efforts are to be strengthened in the early spring by a moderate programme of building and construction—moderate compared with the gigantic United States plan "because we have not their resources"—Major L. L. Anthes, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, said in addressing the Canadian Hardware convention and exposition delegates at Toronto.

Major Anthes said the proposed building programme throughout the country would stimulate industry.

"It is obvious that such a programme will help your business and it will help ours," he said. "It will give work to many thousands and put money in circulation."

"We believe that our export trade will continue to increase in 1934. We have turned an adverse balance into a favorable balance of very large proportions. Canadian exporting firms are putting forth extraordinary efforts to maintain and extend the markets for their goods in other countries. If their hopes are realized they will bring much business and, consequently, much employment to Canada during this year."

Majority Would Not Work

New York city authorities the other day began an experiment to see just what percentage of street peddlers are really "deserving cases." They arrested 63 peddlers on the streets, investigated them, and offered jobs to those who were wanted them. Seven of the 63 were delighted to get the jobs. The other 56 being men who preferred begging to working, immediately were sent to jail.

Those who think only of themselves have but little or nothing to think about.

Farmers Should Take Over Telephone Lines.

In another column we publish a report that the Ghost Pine farmers have purchased the rural telephone line from the Provincial government.

Would it not be well for the farmers of this district to do the same thing?

The farmers complain that the rural telephone rates are too high, and as a result a large number of rural phones have been taken out.
The government claims that the rural phones are being operated at a loss and are now offering to sell their lines to farmer companies at practically scrap prices. This gives the farmers the opportunity to organize companies, with a very small capital expenditure.

Two companies could be organized to advantage at this point, one for the east of town and one for the west.

We have made inquiries as to the approximate cost of purchasing the lines at the price offered by the government, and have taken the lines east and west as a basis.

The east has 46 phones operating at the present time, and if only that number went into a company the line could be purchased with approximately $2,000 per subscriber, in addition to which the subscriber would be required to purchase his own phone at a cost of $7.50 each.

The west, with 92 phones, would be in a more favorable position and could purchase the line at approximately $17.00 per subscriber and $7.50 for each telephone.

The probability is that the number of subscribers could be increased if such a scheme could be carried out, which would decrease the cost per subscriber proportionately.

The charge for connection with the local telephone exchange would be $7.20 per annum per phone, and with an adequate charge for maintenance of the lines we are satisfied that telephones could be operated at half the cost as at present charged by the government.

According to the deal made by the Ghost Pine farmers, the government will accept a quarter of the purchase price in cash, the balance in two annual payments without interest.

Mass Buying.

Already sufficient evidence has been presented before the Stevens Committee to show that slavery conditions prevail in certain industries of Canada. These conditions have been brought about by intense competition and over-zealous zeal to make profits on the part of larger industries. The need of human beings has been exploited. People want work, and in their desperation they will seize on any work at any pay, rather than resort to idleness and relief.

Packing industries, chain stores, mail order houses, big business generally, is standing on trial before the people of Canada. So far the evidence is damning, showing an inhumanity which few would believe possible. One hundred years ago Thomas Hood stirred old England with his verses, "The Song of the Shirt." This poem pictured the sweat-shop conditions of England at that time. If the statements presented before the investigating committee are true, the conditions of 100 years ago in the Old Land prevail in certain industries and certain cities in Canada today.

The public is responsible to some degree for the situation, owing to the fact that the public is looking for bargains. In this respect the whole machinery of society is awry.
People do not want shoddy goods if they can buy better. But when wages and incomes are slashed to a fraction it becomes necessary to buy bargains or not to buy at all.
The public knows that the bargains are not good value, that they show poor workmanship, cheap grade of goods, poor buttons, poor stitching —inferior in every respect. But restricted spending power provided the allure for cheap goods. The mass buyers, the cheap garment makers, were quick to realize the situation, exploiting the public by ingenious methods and at the same time driving the conscientious manufacturer or retailer out of business.
The whole sorry situation reveals the economic conditions of Canada.
It reveals those who have exploited the public and have thrived in con-scienceless competition. It indicates also that there is too little money in the hands of the buying public.

The committee is going fearlessly ahead. The next step is for parliament. Legislation can curb the exploitation of Canadian people.
Will that legislation be forthcoming?
—Vulcan Advocate.

Mountain View Notes

The members of the W.I. met at the home of Mrs. Garnet Tighe on the 15th inst and in spite of the inclement weather there was a good attendance. The topic on "Agriculture" was taken by Mrs. W. Coates who gave an excellent discourse on the raising of chickens and phases of gardening. A competition was afterwards held and with three ladies tied it was necessary to draw, the prize going to Mrs. Atkinson. Five dollars was voted to be sent to the Salvation Army Home. The lucky number in the tea draw was won by Miss Marjorie Hill. The hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. G. Tighe and Mrs. J. Worrall. The April meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. W. P. Shultz.

A splendid report on the topic of "C.C.F." was ably delivered by Maj McCrimmon at Community Hall on Monday evening. The local U.F.A. was re-organized the same evening with Mr. E. Blain as president and Mr. E. Cullen as secretary.

Mrs. Archie Rennie, of Blackie, returned home on Wednesday after spending a few days at the B.A. Atkinson home, en route home from the Olds district.

BERGEN-NICHE VALLEY

Rev. Oscar Snyder is attending the conference in Didsbury.

Mr. Chris Admussen is quite sick at present writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hickok have both been ill the last few weeks but both are improving.

The Eidswold school was destroyed by fire on Friday morning, fortunately before school time. Everything was lost but no one was hurt. An overheated stove is thought to be the cause. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

The Gloom Busters gave a very successful play in the hall on the 23rd which drew a large audience. They are playing in the Sundre Hall this week.

A largely attended meeting of the young people of the Bergen district was held at the hall on Saturday last, the object being to form a junior branch of the U.F.A. Mr. H. Townsend of the senior branch presided and after an interesting discussion it was decided to form a local. Fourteen members signified their intention of joining and Mr. Townsend was elected president pro tem and G. Falkenberg sec-treas. The next meeting will be held on Saturday, April 14, when a large number of new members are expected to enroll.

Elkton Notes.

The play given by the Elkton young people and ably directed by Miss Edith Mann was a wonderful success. The play was a breezy bit of banter and teemed with action, while the players performed so well that the crowd was kept in an uproar during the three acts.

The theme centered around the love affair of "Sugar" (Miss Vivian Hewitt) and "Chickie" (Mr. Frank Kyncl). Other members of the cast were: Miss Bessie Evans, Miss Francis Lynch, Mrs. Arnold Blain, and Walter Dobson, Arnold Hogg, and Wilfred Blain. All these young people are to be congratulated on their splendid performance.

OCCASIONAL WIFE

By

EDNA ROBY WEBSTER

Author of "Joretta," "Lipstick Girl" Etc.

SYNOPSIS

Camilla Hoyt and Peter Anson, young and in love, marry secretly, deciding to live their own lives apart until Peter is able to provide for her. Peter is a young, struggling sculptor trying to win a competition for a scholarship abroad and Camilla is the adopted daughter of a wealthy family. She is not to inherit money when she comes of age and so is studying commercial art in the hope of landing an agency job. Others in the story are Avis Worth, another wealthy girl who is trying to win Peter, Sylvia Todd, Peter's model, and Gus Mason, his former roommate with whom he has quarrelled. At a party at an exclusive club Peter entertains Camilla's guests with impersonations. When the rest of the members of the party go to a cabaret to continue the gaiety,

Peter and Camilla slip off to the beach by themselves and fall asleep on the sand. When they awake it is early morning and Avis and another boy are standing near them. The matter is necessary for Camilla to announce before the party that she and Peter are married. Avis is stunned and Camilla's mother likewise. Camilla decides that she must leave the home of her adopted parents immediately and go to live with Rose, her sister, who is a file clerk in a business house. They decide to take an apartment. Bowman and Weeks, an advertising agency, where Camilla has found her first job, send for her and tell her they have a new account which requires unusual treatment of juvenile art. To Camilla's surprise she learns that the account is that of her foster father's company, which has decided on an extensive campaign to bolster up lagging business. After a conference with Mr. Bowman, Camilla decides to attempt the work. With ideas running riot in her head she goes home and spends the night sketching. In the morning, armed with her sketches she sets out for the agency. The critics were enthusiastic about her work, and Mr. Weeks offered her a salary of $30.00 a week to start and a prospect of having it doubled. She goes to keep a dinner engagement with Peter. (Now Go On With the Story)

CHAPTER XXII

Peter detected her electrical manner the moment he saw her, and thought he never had seen Camilla so lovely. He took both her hands in his, gently, and poured his love and adoration into her eyes with his gaze. "Camilla, I can't endure this sweet agony of being without you any longer."

"Even the agony is sweet," she added.

"Yes, because I see every hour in the anticipation of seeing you again."

"She smiled into his eyes, happily. "Then our plan is a huge success. That is just the way I wanted it to be. Don't you see, dear, if I were with you always, there would be no sweet agony of anticipation?" And that would be a very tragic fate for us. Half of the joy of life is anticipation."

He sighed with resignation. "Why do I argue with you about coming to me when I know I can't take care of you?"

"We're not going to argue about it, Peter. That's all settled. Besides, to-night is a very special celebration. I can't wait another minute to tell you my secret, so let's go in and sit down where we can talk. Do you suppose we can get the same table as we had on our wedding night? This occasion is almost as important."

"It must be important, if it makes you so beautiful," his eyes did not leave her face, as he tucked her hand into his arm and they entered through the gracious doorway of "Charm Cottage" again.

"Camilla glanced up from the menu delightedly. "Here is the same special menu we had for our wedding dinner, Peter."

"Then that's what we're having. Okay?"

"It couldn't be better."

"Two special dinners," he said to the hovering waitress. "Now tell me, he faked his arms on the table and faced Camilla eagerly. "You have a position?"

"Oh, yes, but that isn't the best part of it," she exclaimed. "Let me begin at the very first and tell you everything."

He laughed agreement. "Suspenses, thrills and all. It promises to be dramatic."

It was, he had to admit when she had finished. His heart swelled with pride for her success and a little with regret, not because he was losing her, but because she was so exquisite and precious that he wanted to claim his right to take care of her and spare her all the social demands and sacrifices which even so promising a future involved.

He thought that this sudden achievement showed the whole world with a golden light for her, like the various colored spotlights on the stage when she donned costumes, worn properly and faultily makeup.

She had yet to learn that for every victory there is some defeat, for every joy some disappointment and heartache for every task achieved endless hours of toil and anxiety. He knew that Camilla would meet these challenges gallantly of course. But he wished that he might spare her any of the disillusion and could sort out for her only the sparkling gems of genuine worth, sparing her the bitter disappointment of synthetic substitutes which prevailed their majority in everything that belonged to life.

Camilla deserved to be treasured like a precious jewel, herself, yet she belonged to him and he could not let a finger to protect her from the slightest need or anxiety. Rather, he had added to this. A fierce determination burned within him while he watched her happy face. He would give his soul to keep her happy like that, always he thought.

Mrs. Hoyt accepted the news of Camilla's position and her departure from her home with resigned cheerfulness. She had not gained her objective, but to her way of thinking, Camilla would use to her the money when she would regret her rash determination to be independent and master of her own destiny.

In Mrs. Hoyt's past experience, youth profited by the wisdom of its elders or repaid the consequences of its folly. But here was a mind that dwelt in the past in a peaceful, social register, a fortified fortress and blue-blooded convictions.

Her mind obstinately denied what her eyes looked, proud names made innocuous and supported by plain words, the rapid rise of a social order which recognized ability above class, established fortunes tottering by the hour while new ones of magnificent growth replaced them, life that loved and laughed and snatched its fingers at snug conviction.

She had been trying to fit a product of this modern age into the pattern of two generations before. No wonder she had failed to accomplish her purpose. Strange, that she had selected this child of foreign parents to replace those denied her. Just another inconsistency of human emotions, that the beautiful little child had appeared so strongly to her mother's heart.

"I hope you won't think I am regretting it if I leave you before the end of the summer?" Camilla inquired anxiously, after she had listened with calm patience to her foster mother's surprised comments upon her new position.

"But I don't see why you should. If you have to work in an office all day, it would be much easier for you to stay here until you are adjusted. For that matter, you need not leave here at all this year. We'll really like to have you with us, even if you are working for yourself." Her compromise was offered with more selflessness than she would have admitted to herself.

"That's very kind of you, but I prefer to do all the adjusting now and have it over with. I really could not feel as if I were independent so long as I lived here with you, in such circumstances as my salary could not afford. Besides, Rose needs me for awhile. I believe we can do a lot for each other while I am waiting for Peter to become established."

Mrs. Hoyt sighed heavily. "I understand, Camilla, that never will be, but I have more than my share of success," and Peter's opportunities are so limited. I don't know why."

"Please, let's not go over all that again," Camilla entreated. "I know why I married Peter, and I'll marry him again, even if I thought he had no chance. But he has. He does have more than ambition. He has talent, which will win out sooner or later."

Mrs. Hoyt's gleamed eyes still accused her gravely while she resumed her tolerant acceptance of the situation. "Just when do you propose to live, Camilla. I hope you will consider that you have been a Hoyt for most of your life." Already she was reaching out tentacles into Camilla's future life in an attempt to order it according to her desires, as she had done in the past.

"I can't very well consider anything except the total of mine and Rose's salaries," she protested. "After all—I'm sorry—but it was you who changed my position from that of a Hoyt, even before I became Camilla Anson. That is, I should have been a working girl and the wife of a genius. I'll look for an apartment as near town as rents will permit, so that we can save time for house-keeping. Somewhere in the sixties or seventies, probably."

"But that's an impossible location!" objected the horrified Mrs. Hoyt.

"How impossible?"

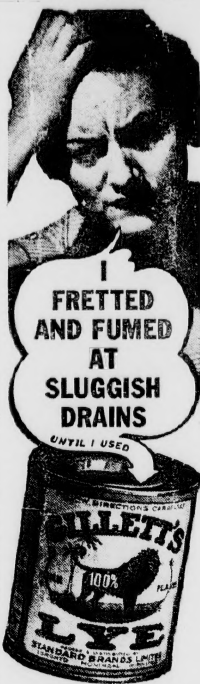

"Why so very common and unattractive. How could you endure living in such surroundings?"

"I don't expect to gratify my beauty-loving eyes for awhile. If we have a clean room in an agreeable atmosphere it will do until we can afford better. That may be even sooner than we hope." She added optimistically, pulling a white-brimmed Panama hat over her soft black curls and tucking in the curious locks that persisted in peeping curiously into her face and shining eyes. "But I must hurry along and not just such a place today, so we can get settled tomorrow, rest Sunday and be ready to work on Monday. I'll see you at dinner?"

Groucho "I hope the football coach gets five times as much salary as the track prof. Don't take a discount."

Student: "I think I'd give you hear 10,000 people cheering a live basketball."

Lutheran Broadcast 8 p.m. Good Friday

Announcement is made by the Young People's Society of St. Paul's and St. John's Lutheran Church of a special Lutheran Church service to be broadcast on Good Friday, March 30th, over CFCN, Calgary, commencing at 8 p.m. M.S.T.

This forthcoming radio service will be the initial effort to carry into effect a resolution of the Wabster League winter conference recently held in Calgary, asking the League officials to make radio broadcasting one of the major activities of the young people's societies of the Missouri Synod Lutheran Church in Alberta and British Columbia.

The service will be broadcast from Mount Calgary Lutheran Church, the three Calgary congregations co-operating. The sermon will be delivered by the Rev. W. A. Raedke, pastor of Immanuel Church.

One of the primary objects in sponsoring radio broadcasts of the Lutheran Church services is to acquaint the public with the doctrines and teachings of this "Old Church with the Old Gospel."
